

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ReDiscover Announces Retirement of Vice President of Clinical Excellence Ed Cullumber

Kansas City, Mo. — ReDiscover announces the retirement of Ed Cullumber, Vice President of Clinical Excellence, following six years of dedicated leadership and service to the organization and the individuals and families it serves.

Cullumber joined ReDiscover in 2020 as Vice President of Mental Health Services, a role he held for five years before transitioning to Vice President of Clinical Excellence in 2025.

As Vice President of Mental Health Services, Cullumber provided leadership and oversight for a broad range of programs supporting individuals experiencing mental health challenges. His collaborative approach and focus on continuous improvement helped strengthen services, support staff development, and expand access to care across the communities ReDiscover serves.

In his most recent role as Vice President of Clinical Excellence, Cullumber championed efforts to enhance quality, clinical effectiveness, and organizational performance. His leadership helped ensure that ReDiscover remained focused on delivering compassionate, evidence-based care while meeting the evolving needs of the community.

"Ed's impact on ReDiscover has been significant, especially in helping expand mental health services to youth and building key partnerships with first responders and school districts" said Jennifer Craig, President and CEO of ReDiscover. "We are grateful for his service and the lasting foundation he helped build."

Throughout his career, Cullumber has been recognized for his thoughtful leadership, mentorship, and unwavering commitment to improving the lives of those facing mental health and substance use challenges. His contributions have left a lasting mark on ReDiscover and the broader behavioral health community.

As he begins this next chapter, ReDiscover extends its sincere gratitude to Cullumber for his leadership, service, and dedication to the organization's mission of helping individuals and families find hope, healing, and recovery.

Ed Cullumber adds this final thought about his time at ReDiscover. “I am incredibly grateful for the people, experiences, and purpose I’ve found in my work at ReDiscover. ReDiscover’s commitment and dedication to serving our community’s most vulnerable citizens is admirable and I have been blessed to have been a part of this wonderful organization.”

Pictured above: Ed Cullumber and ReDiscover's executive leadership team celebrate the groundbreaking of the new Kansas City Campus, expected to open in fall 2026.

About ReDiscover

ReDiscover is a nonprofit community mental health center providing comprehensive mental health and substance use services to individuals and families throughout the Kansas City region. Through innovative programs and compassionate care, ReDiscover is committed to transforming lives and strengthening communities.

Media Contact:

Scott Mason

Director of Development and Communication

scott.mason@rediscovermh.org

816-721-4543